EDITORIAL GREETINGS

It is finally here. Our team worked hard for this year's Jurnal Ekonomi dan Bisnis Islam (JEBIS) publication. High appreciates the dedication given by all the team and reviewers. Also, we would like to thank all authors by submitting their brilliant ideas and writings to JEBIS. All hard work paid off with the publication of JEBIS Volume 11 Edition 2, July-December 2025, on time.

In this edition, JEBIS offers twelve articles address various themes within Islamic bussines, economics, and finance. Empirical studies have been done for this edition in several certain areas. Two articles explore the halal hospitality industry. Three additional articles examine topics in Islamic banking, including customer behavior from ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) and technology perspectives, as well as product development. Another three articles delve into Islamic social finance, investigating Zakat paymeny, Waqf forest and the efficiency of Waqf organizations. The remaining four articles examine a variety of topics: Islamic Economics in OIC countries, Islamic capital market, Sharia Insurance, and Islamic micro-fintech.

The articles that have been published are expected to help various parties in developing Islamic economics and finance. Therefore, the contribution of academics, practitioners, and researchers is needed to achieve this. Thank you in advance. See you in the next edition.
