Title: Short, informative, and clear, written in capital letters except the Latin term or binomial nomenclature.

Author Identity: Full name (not abbreviated) without the title. If the author is more than one, with different affiliations, then behind each name is given an index of Arabic numerals. The author's address is written under the name of the author, including laboratories, institutions, and complete addresses with telephone/facsimile numbers and e-mail. An additional index (*) is given to the author who acts as the corresponding author.

Abstract: Abstract contains a summary of the manuscript, aim, brief method, result, and conclusion covering all manuscripts without specifying each part. Avoid using abbreviations. Abstracts include 3-5 keywords sorted according to their importance.

Keywords: first, second, third

Introduction: Contains the scope, background of the problem, research contributions, and research implications. This section should provide background and statement of the problem so that the reader can understand and assess the results of the study without reading previous reports relating to the topic. Provide literature that can support discussion.

Materials and Methods: Describe in detail and clearly the design of the study, the number of samples, the treatment method, the materials used, and the method of work carried out, including statistical methods and an explanation of the animal's ethical behavior certificate if necessary. The work methods submitted must contain enough information to enable the study to be repeated successfully.

Results and Discussions: Presented jointly and discussed clearly the results of the study. The results of the research can be presented in written form in a script, table, or picture. The result of processing data is sent in a file separate from the scientific script file and accompanied by the name of the program and basic data for compiling the graph. The discussion presented should contain an interpretation of the results obtained and the discussion relating to previous reports. Avoid repeating statements that have been conveyed to methods, results, and other information that has been presented in the introduction.
